KEY FACTS AND INFORMATION SUMMARY: The City of Mill Creek will welcome two (2) new council members in 2018. They will become part of a team that governs under the Council-Manager form of government. Accordingly, as part of the City’s orientation for new council members, the City Manager will make a presentation regarding the Council-Manager form of government and successful council-manager relations.

Born out of the U.S. progressive reform movement at the turn of the 20th century, the council manager form of government was created to combat corruption and unethical activity within local government by promoting nonpolitical management that is effective, transparent, responsive and accountable.

The Council-Manager form of government is the most common form of local government in the United States. Today, more than 105 million people in the U.S. live in communities that operate under the council-manager form. Forty-eight percent of the more than 7,300 U.S. municipalities with populations of 2,500 or more use the form, as do nearly 62 percent of municipalities with populations greater than 100,000. More than 800 counties also employ a similar system. Source: ICMA.

The Council-Manager form of government is akin to the structure of many corporations, in which the board of directors hires an experienced CEO who is granted broad, executive authority to run the organization. While the board establishes the company’s overall policy direction, the CEO oversees implementation of that policy.

A Council-Manager government is characterized by:

- A city council that makes policy and sets the budget;
- The appointment of a professional manager who provides policy advice, directs the daily operations of city government, handles personnel functions (including the power to appoint and remove employees) and is responsible for preparing the City budget; and
- A mayor chosen from among the Council. The mayor presides at Council meetings and is recognized as the head of the City for ceremonial purposes but has no regular administrative duties.

Unlike the national trend, the majority of Washington cities are formed under the Mayor-Council form of government. Indeed, of the 281 cities in Washington, 228 operate under the Mayor-Council form of government and only 53 operate under the Council-Manager form of government. Source: MRSC.
The basic structure and organization of council-manager governments in Washington is set out in Ch. 35A.13 RCW (code cities). Under the council-manager statutes, the City Council is prohibited from interfering with the manager’s administration.

The below chart provides a good comparison of the Mayor-Council vs. Council-Manager forms of government.

In accordance with its mission, the City of Mill Creek is setting the standard of excellence in local government by operating under a form of government that is based on a business model that promotes the professional management of public resources. However, the use of the Council-Manager form of government is the exception rather than the rule in Washington. Therefore, to ensure the effective and efficient operation of the City, it is important for the City Manager, and the tenured members of the Council, to provide an overview of the City’s governance model for the newest members of the team.

Council-Manager Form of Government

Keys to Building a Successful Council-Manager Relationship

January 2, 2018

“The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place.”

George Bernard Shaw, Irish writer

Agenda

• Why is this important?
• Why is this such an issue?
• What is the deal?
• Expectations of Council
• Roles/Responsibilities
• Spheres of competency
• Reasons for failure
• Recipe for success
Why is this important?

- Council sets the policy tone; governance policies critical to its effective leadership.
- CM sets administrative tone: mentors the style expected of his/her administration.
- Respect for mutual roles is critical; council agrees to certain protocols/non-interference.
- Council & CM understand the significance of their relationship to organization & to community.

Why is this an issue?

- Council and their management function in very close proximity.
- CM functions on behalf of the municipality and Council and not at the behest of individual members.
- Public puts pressure on Council members to bypass or overturn decision of the CM.
Why is this an issue? (continued)

- Role/performance of the CM critical to confidence of the Council and its members.
- Evidence of collegiality/respect between Council and CM important to larger audiences.
- Actions and comments of Councilmembers illustrate respect for the professionalism/independence of the CM on an everyday basis.

What is the ideal?

- An ideal Council-CM relationship exists when:
  - Councilmembers fully understand what they are elected to do (i.e. set policy direction; resolve difficult community issues; determine spending parameters; provide governance oversight; set priorities).
  - Councilmembers understand the "legislation" (ordinance) (and its own position description and contract) authorizes the CM to do.

- An ideal Council-CM relationship exists when:
  - CM shows respect for all members of the Council.
  - CM ensures that Council is always well-briefed.
  - CM is sensitive to the stresses placed on the Council by the public.
  - CM seeks to assist Council in achieving its priorities.

- An ideal Council-CM relationship exists when:
  - CM shows respect for his/her senior staff without abdicating the CM’s role.
  - CM defends his/her staff in face of any criticism.
  - Regular discussions take place regarding this critical relationship.

What is the ideal? (continued)

- An ideal Council-CM relationship exists when:
  - Council & management work jointly on setting real priorities and see these as jointly owned.
  - Every opportunity is seized to exhibit Council-CM relationship to the public and key audiences.
The expectations of a Council

What a governing body expects:
- Sensitivity to those who are new to the world of governance.
- Expressed support for those elected to govern; commitment to "their" agenda.
- Immediate outline of a comprehensive orientation process; build in sufficient "ownership" by new Council.
- Advice on how to fully surface "their" agenda.

What a governing body expects: (continued)
- Information on business planning & budget process.
- Sense of "this is your term; we are here to help make this successful for you."
- Advice on what potential conflicts exist.
- Adherence to the power/control levers of the Council.
- Advice on "where can we add value?"
What a governing body expects:

- The full picture; advance notice of emerging issues; follow up issues and Council decisions.
- Equal treatment for all Council members.
- Courteous relationships with the public.
- Support for tough decisions.

Levers of power

- Legislative responsibilities and powers.
- Public representation.
- Council vision, goals and priorities.
- Operational/capital budgets.
- Policies/bylaws/resolutions.
- Relationship to CM.
- Governance system.

Roles and responsibilities of the City Manager
Key roles of the CM

- Acts as policy advisor to Council; ensures advice is presented on all policy issues (i.e. any matter that is business on Council's agenda).
- Ensures that action is taken promptly by the administration on all Council decisions; ensures implementation of policies/programs.
- Monitors the system.

- Guides, motivates, disciplines management; delegates.
- Ensures that advice to Council and decisions by Council are within the Council's jurisdiction and legal capacity to act.
- Provides a sense of quality control of advice up & action down.

- Works at building partnerships with his/her colleagues in the region.
- Performs all duties set out in ordinance, bylaws, resolutions.
Spheres of competency

CM spheres of competency
• Assistance to Council in understanding its governance role.
• Relationship building with the Council.
• Policy advice and leadership on key issues.
• Fiscal management/business planning.

CM spheres of competency (continued)
• Discharge of all legal requirements.
• Development of community relationships.
• Leadership of the administration team.
The reasons for failure.

Why do Council-CM relationships fail; do we understand the areas wherein failure is most frequent?

Failures of City Managers
1. Relationship building
   • Lack of attention to relationship building with the Council.
   • Misplaced roles.
   • Impact of a leadership vacuum.
   • Absence of respect & maturity.

Failures of City Managers (continued)
2. Managing Change
   • Lack of preparation for a new Council.
   • Limited guidance to Council's strategic agenda.
   • Lack of concern re: Linkage of administrative agenda with political priorities.
Failures of City Managers
3. Managing a team
   • Setting the right tone for the senior management team.
   • Stating principles and expectations clearly.
   • Recruiting the best.
   • Providing encouragement to blended teams.
   • Living out the example.

Failures of City Managers
4. Managing the basics of good management
   • Communication stressed.
   • Management meetings well-planned.
   • Training & development emphasized.
   • Planning performance measurement.
   • Engaging in cross-organizational business planning.

Failures of a Council
They don’t have any failures; they’re elected to always be right!
Failures of a Council (continued)

- Not recognizing or caring that the relationship requires both partners.
- Not being cognizant that the relationship is a partnership, a two-way street.
- Seeing their CM as an executive assistant and not as a chief executive officer.

- Presuming that the legislation and contractual obligations can be overlooked or discarded at the whim of Council.
- Mistakenly believing that a good businessman could do the job.
- Playing up to a favorite staff member or department head.

- Not understanding the value or importance of going through the CM to access information or action.
- Seeking a friendship with the CM instead of a professional relationship.
Building the Council-CM team: one plank at a time.

Key principles
1. Trust in the word of each other.
2. Respect for the "one employee" principle.
3. Concurrent information.
4. Personal relationship to the CM.
5. Complaints about behavior of a Councilmember.

Key principles (continued)
6. No surprises.
7. Current skill development.
8. Regular briefing of all Councilmembers.
9. Monitoring/updating the council "agenda."
10. Urgency of action; cohesion of spirit.
Philosophy

1. Respect for each other
   • Respect for the advice of the CM and his/her team.
   • Respect that they work in a very difficult environment.

Philosophy (continued)

2. Understand that each has different ideas, styles, and talents.
   • Understand that we bring differing gifts to the table.
   • Appreciate that this will lead to construction tension.

Philosophy (continued)

3. Develop comfort disagreeing on the issues.
   • Administrators do NOT see the world as elected officials do.
   • Elected officials see what is publicly popular; not necessarily logical or sound from a business perspective.
Philosophy (continued)

4. Understand that Council & management will have concern for different priorities but can share in a common vision.
   - Administrators think in terms of “their projects, their departments.”
   - A Council should think in terms of “their municipality’s” future.

Philosophy (continued)

5. Respect for the rules.
   - Cooperation is not possible without mutual respect for the rules.
   - These rules are enforced for all.

Philosophy (continued)

6. Desire to serve the public.
   - This one factor ought to unite Council and their administrations.
   - Whatever is done should be viewed through this lens.
Practices

- Mayor/manager meetings.
- Council/manager briefings.
- Joint strategic/business planning.
- Media releases (Mayor, Council).
- Public meetings.
- Annual performance reviews.
- Respect for CM role.

Protocol

1. Council-CM protocol
   - Councilmembers will treat the CM and his/her staff with respect in all Council and committee meetings.
   - The CM will be advised of any requests to his/her administration by Councilmembers for information.
   - Any access to the administration by members of the Council will be limited to the CM.

Protocol (continued)

2. Relationship to CM & Management
   - We agree to respect the apolitical nature of the office of the CM and to receive his/her advice as being in the perceived best interests of the City.
   - We will respectfully listen to comments in response to questions posed at Council meetings and will ensure that the CM is accorded a respectful audience.

3. Treatment of the senior administration
   - We agree to respect the apolitical nature of our senior staff and will treat their advice and reports with respect. We will not knowingly or willfully interfere with their work but will coordinate any of our concerns as a Council through the office of the CM.

Protocol (continued)

4. Advice to the Council.
   - All reports to the Council will include a recommendation by the CM.
   - The CM will endeavor to keep the Council informed on the salient background of all key issues facing the City.
   - Issues for which management does not have clear policy, guidance will be prioritized for policy development.

Protocol (continued)

5. Primacy of policy.
   - Current approved policies will always be followed until changes approved by the Council.
   - Any communication of the policies of the City to external audiences will be referred to the CM.
   - The Council may at any time request a review of current policy.
Protocol (continued)

6. Requests for information.
   • Responses to such requests for information from the administration copied to all members of Council and CM.
   • Management is not expected to know the answers to all questions; but expected to review and report back to the Council at the first opportunity.

Protocol (continued)

7. Responsibility of CM
   • Any blame for the mistakes by administration will be accepted by the CM and/or Council as applicable.

Protocol (continued)

8. Public Profile.
   • Disparaging remarks with regard to the Council or administration will not be tolerated.
   • Any contact between the Council & admin that appears to be other than respectful will be reported to the Mayor and CM.
Protocol (continued)

- All Council and staff members will be conscious of the need for adherence to Council protocols in any e-mail exchanges.
- All Council and staff members will be aware of the need to show respect to the public.

Protocol (continued)

9. Respect for each other in Chambers.
- Councilmembers will treat each other with respect in Council Chambers. During the course of meetings, proper titles will be used.
- When another member of Council is speaking, respect will be shown by the other members of Council who will not interrupt the member speaking.

The Council-City Manager Covenant
Council's covenant

7. Ensure that Council is made aware of the full picture with regard to each issue at least to the extent that the administration is aware of such information and ensure that Council has access to the reasonable decision options as well as my recommendation as your CM.

Summary: The message
Keys to quality Council-CM relations

1. Respect for each other.
   - Evidenced in how we communicate; non-interference in work responsibilities.
2. Understanding roles.
   - Councilmembers’ roles are spelled out.
   - Powers of CM are clear.

3. Respect for what brought Council and staff to the dance.
   - Councilmembers are there because of populism; CM because of expertise.
4. Council’s respect for the CM
   - Respect results in confidence in CM to manage his/her own administration; CM suffers when Council want to step-in to “help.”

5. The CM’s respect for the role of Council.
   - CM needs to enable Council to lead; should not be doing the job of Council nor shutting Council out of important issues/decisions.
   - Like marriages, these need to be monitored and watched for signs of fraying.
Assessing the results of a healthy relationship.

- Accomplishments abound: Council priorities tackled and acknowledged.
- Sense of trust and respect permeate the atmosphere.
- Citizens hear positive comments from the Council.

Assessing the results of a healthy relationship (continued)

- Staff respect their elected leaders.
- Elected leaders respect their boundaries.

What are the Outcomes?

- A healthy relationship based on openness, candor, respect, mutual trust, no surprises.
- An apolitical administration whose goal is to provide first rate advice to Council and the best service delivery to the citizens.
What are the Outcomes? (continued)

- A Council that commits to its role and reflects the public will.
- An administration which is confident in its leadership & thus energized to deliver good services.

Thank you.
